MEDICAL INFORMATION

Communicable and Infectious Diseases

SummerQuest wants to maintain a healthy school environment by taking steps to prevent the spread of communicable diseases. The term “Communicable Disease” means an illness which arises as a result of a specific infectious agent, which may be transmitted either directly or indirectly by a susceptible host or infected person or animal to other persons. Any student with a communicable disease for which immunization is required or is available, will be temporarily excluded from school while ill and during recognizable periods of communicability. Students with communicable diseases for which immunization is not available will be excluded from school while ill. If the nature of the disease and circumstances warrant, SummerQuest may require an independent physician's examination of the student to verify the diagnosis of communicable disease.

SummerQuest reserves the right to make all final decisions necessary to enforce its communicable disease policy and to take all necessary action to control the spread of communicable disease within the school. Any child who is diagnosed as carrying a disease classified as "communicable" is not allowed to become or remain enrolled at SummerQuest as long as the disease is present. Once the school has written verification from a physician that such a child has become disease free, he may be considered for enrollment or re-enrollment at SummerQuest. This policy applies to, but is not limited to, all diseases that may be sexually transmitted, including Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome (AIDS). For school purposes, any student testing positive for antibodies to the AIDS virus is considered to be infected with the virus. SummerQuest believes that these measures serve to minimize the further spread of diseases.

3. A representative of the school faculty will stay with the child until the parent arrives.
